

APPOINTMENT OF BOARD MEMBER

Invergordon

Position: Non-Executive Director

Company: Port of Cromarty Firth

The Port of Cromarty Firth is seeking a Non-Executive Director to join its Board. The successful candidate will play a crucial role in guiding the port through its strategic direction, supporting growth in offshore wind developments, cruise shipping, and the transition of the offshore oil and gas sector. The new director will have the opportunity to contribute to the port's full potential and make a significant impact on its future. Additionally, the role involves supporting the port's position as one of Scotland's busiest cruise ports and aiding the managed transition of the oil and gas industry to a net-zero future.

To address the Port's upcoming challenges, we are looking for individuals with a legal background, including general and commercial law experience, to join our Board as a Non-Executive Director. Ideally, candidates should also have previous board experience.

As a Trust Port, we exist to improve, safeguard and develop the Cromarty Firth as a strategic national asset for the benefit of our stakeholders. This includes port users, employees, the local community, regional businesses, government and, ultimately, future generations. Whilst we are a self-financing commercial business, 100% of profits are reinvested in the development of the Port to create jobs, business opportunities and economic growth for the Highland region.

If you would like to request an application pack for the role or to have a confidential discussion, please contact Melanie McGregor, Company Secretary, at 01349 85230 or via email at m.mcgregor@cfpa.co.uk.
